This past year marked a significant milestone for Kettering Health Network. Fifty years ago, we answered the call to care for the people of southwest Ohio with the opening of the Charles F. Kettering Memorial Hospital. Since then we have grown into a health system that includes eight hospitals and more than 11,000 employees and volunteers.

Because we believe in the connection of the body, mind, and spirit, our faith-based culture empowers our employees to partner with patients in providing spiritual care through the healing process. It is the foundation of our calling.

Pursuing and achieving excellence in the work we do each day is the hallmark of our mission. Several of our hospitals have been recognized with national awards for quality and excellence, which are highlighted throughout this report.

We continue to expand services to meet the needs of the communities we serve. This is evident in the addition of a growing network of physician practices, freestanding emergency centers, and a continued focus on wellness classes and support groups. We are grateful for community collaborations designed to help build healthy neighborhoods, schools, churches, and local businesses.

We are passionate about transforming the healthcare experience for our patients and their families. Thank you for the faith you have placed in our commitment to hope and healing.
At Kettering Health Network, we wake up every morning not just to get ready for a job, but to answer our calling. This sacred work stems from the mission, vision, and values that live at the core of our care.

NETWORK STAR
JON YSLAS, medical assistant and registration Fort Hamilton Hospital

Drawing from the personal experience of witnessing a family member battle cancer, Jon doesn’t underestimate one person’s power to impact another’s life.

In addition to raising money for cancer research, treatment, and education, Jon creates magnets for cancer patients that feature hand-selected inspirational quotes. One patient returned to share good news that she was in remission. She hugged Jon, thanked him for his support, and said Jon’s magnets, personality, and smile helped her through the treatments.

“I love to use the personality God gave me to help others in any way, on any day.”

—JON YSLAS
Born in 1876, Charles F. Kettering spent most of his life tackling tough questions and vigorously pursuing innovation. He was vice president of research at General Motors for 27 years and founded Dayton Engineering Laboratories Company, known as Delco. He held almost 200 patents for inventions. Many of his innovations are part of our everyday lives today.

Charles Kettering’s vision was to utilize innovative technology in caring for patients in a community hospital setting. His son, Eugene, and Eugene’s wife, Virginia, sought to fulfill that vision by building a hospital as a living memorial.

During the polio epidemic in the 1950s, Eugene and Virginia had witnessed firsthand the compassionate, quality health care at Hinsdale Hospital near Chicago. Leaders and staff incorporated Christian values at every level of service.

What established its roots as a community hospital has grown into a healthcare network that embodies the Ketterings’ first vision: to bring innovative, whole-person care to our communities.

In 2014 Kettering Health Network celebrated the 50th anniversary of its flagship hospital, Kettering Medical Center. The network hosted free events and invited the community to join in the celebration.

Dayton Dragons
Employees, their family members, and friends filled the stands for a special Dayton Dragons baseball game on August 28. Before the game, family-fun events and health screenings were held on the plaza for network employees and community members.

Gospelfest
Nationally-acclaimed Sanctus Real, along with 10 local bands, performed songs of hope at the Fraze Pavilion on July 27. More than 4,000 residents of the City of Kettering and surrounding communities attended.

Independence Day was celebrated in a big way. Kettering Health Network and the City of Kettering united to celebrate Independence Day and Kettering Medical Center’s 50th Anniversary. The event on July 3rd featured national entertainment with Neil Sedaka and Blood, Sweat, and Tears featuring Bo Bice.

These two groups performed for more than 75,000 community members. The event ended with a remarkable fireworks display.
Kettering Health Network is a not-for-profit network of eight hospitals, nine emergency centers, and more than 120 outpatient facilities serving the people of southwest Ohio. Patients have access to a broad range of services for every stage of life, including exceptional maternity care, state-of-the-art cancer fighting technology, leading heart care, comprehensive orthopedic care, as well as revolutionary brain and spine surgery.

At Kettering Health Network, serving others is our ministry.

We answer the call to serve in many ways: nurturing the spirit of those who seek our help, hosting health events for the community, supporting others who share our common goal of service, and connecting people to resources that promote health and wellness.

Some of our employees extend this ministry beyond our hospital walls, into the community, and throughout the world, embracing the universal impact of service.

The King will reply, ‘Truly I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me.’

-MATTHEW 25:40 (NIV)
Called to Serve

We are entrusted with the privilege of caring for the health of others, which we consider sacred work. Because each person deserves our respect and devotion, we provide a healing environment that nurtures the human spirit.

We believe prayer works. Our faith-based culture empowers our employees to pray with patients and minister to those who seek healing. Our network also offers many spiritual resources, from short devotional videos to an entire team dedicated to serving the spiritual needs of our patients.

GOD’S HEALING IN THE EVERYDAY

Each year, the network dedicates a special week to focus on prayer and spiritual reflection, known as the Week of Prayer. A video devotional series and an exclusive booklet offered an introspective look at The Lord’s Prayer from Matthew 6:9-13. The prayer booklet, also distributed in the network’s Emergency Departments, resulted in 263 people requesting a Bible study.

THE POWER OF PRAYER

Our physicians and staff feel called to pray for wisdom, compassion, guidance, and gratitude each day.

To celebrate the power prayer has in bringing healing to people’s lives, the network observed the National Day of Prayer. During this day, people throughout the network gathered at each campus for breakfast to pray for continual blessings on the communities they serve.

BREAKFAST WITH A SIDE OF GOD’S LOVE

Along with their morning orange juice and toast, inpatients at our hospitals receive food for their spirits. Seven different cards feature passages of scripture discussing God’s healing love and a message about chaplain services.

KETTERING :60

A weekly source of inspiration and reflection, Kettering :60 videos break down the Bible into simple, minute-long messages that relate to people in today’s world.

CREATION WALLS

To share the word of God on all our campuses, the network continues to install Creation Walls consisting of eight panels—one for each day of creation, plus one to reflect on the beginning of time—throughout its campuses.

SPIRITUAL SERVICES

Our Spiritual Services and Mission team is an extension of Jesus’ healing ministry. They focus on caring for the spiritual and emotional well-being of patients from all spiritual backgrounds.

SHANGHAI, CHINA
Since 1986, Kettering Health Network has maintained a relationship with Huashan Hospital. It is a place we embrace through innovation and growth.
As part of a network of community hospitals, our employees see those we serve at the grocery store, wave to them as they drop their kids off at school, and embrace them at family gatherings.

We strive to give our neighbors the tools they need to live the healthiest lives possible through prevention. From hosting health events to partnering with local businesses, we share the common goal of improving the health of our communities.

HEALTH OUTREACH
We host and attend many health-related events to provide screenings, education, exercise classes, and family fun that empowers people to pursue healthy lifestyles.

To better serve the unique needs of our communities, we partnered with the Greater Dayton Area Hospital Association and Wright State University to conduct community health needs assessments. In response to the results, we dedicated additional resources to improving the heart, diabetes, and breast health of the surrounding communities.

Healthiest Employer
Kettering Health Network was given Dayton Business Journal’s Healthiest Employers award, which recognizes employers that create a work environment that promotes employee health.

Since 2013, Kettering Health Network has focused on identifying and promoting singular best practices throughout the network. One Best Practice encompasses all facets of the network, including clinical quality, employee engagement, patient satisfaction, and financial performance.

The goal of One Best Practice is to ensure that when a patient walks into a Kettering Health Network facility, he or she will experience the same high standard of quality care and excellent service in every location.

By working together as a network, we have continued to standardize many areas in 2014, better positioning the network to achieve excellence.

Here are just a few ways in which we strengthened operations through network alignment:

- United approaches toward establishing best practices in patient experience, quality and safety, employee engagement, and financial performance.
- Aligned annual performance evaluations across the network.
- Streamlined new employee orientation with a network approach.
- Held our first Inspire Women’s Leadership Conference, which brought together 250 female leaders from across the network to engage in leadership development and fellowship.
- Launched HR Connect, a central call center for all network employees.
- Expanded and strengthened business development efforts by creating a collaborative team with representation from all areas of the network.
- Streamlined Human Resource practices in employee health, recruiting, and tuition assistance.
- Expanded partnership with Joslin Diabetes Center throughout the network.
- All network hospitals met Meaningful Use stage two, improving quality, safety, and efficiency; reducing health disparities; improving care coordination; and maintaining security of patient information.
To ensure that the people in our communities receive the best care possible, Kettering Health Network sets high standards for quality and safety. In 2014, the network ranked in the national top decile for quality and safety, according to Truven Health Analytics, a leading provider of information and solutions to improve the cost and quality of health care.

We are blessed with talented healthcare providers who offer highly-skilled care to patients. While this is an essential part of the healing process, there are other key elements.

Kettering Health Network believes in healing the whole person—body, mind, and spirit. The whole-person approach integrates the care of the physical, intellectual, emotional, and spiritual needs of each patient in an intentionally healing environment.

Our physicians, nurses, staff, and volunteers fulfill this fundamental call to heal: to make a positive difference in people’s lives through quality care with a personal touch, aided by superior technology and supported by a heritage of innovation.

As a not-for-profit network of eight hospitals, nine emergency departments, and more than 120 outpatient facilities serving southwest Ohio, Kettering Health Network is called to heal by meeting people where they are and providing healing in the ways they need it most.

Dear friend, I hope all is well with you and that you are as healthy in body as you are strong in spirit.

CALLED TO CARE

DOREEN Knapke, occupational therapist

A man sought the help of the rehabilitative driving program, but the program’s car wasn’t able to accommodate his specific needs. To give this man the opportunity to regain his ability to drive, Doreen arranged to have modifications made to his personal van and drove to his house for each training session. By seeking a unique solution and literally going the extra mile, Doreen helped the patient pass his driving exam and reclaim an important part of his independence.

“I love what I do because I get to make a visible difference in people’s lives.”

CALLED TO CARE
JOANN CURRENT, phlebotomist
After building trust with a patient who was wary of getting her blood drawn, Joann listened as the patient confided craving one of her favorite foods, which she hadn’t had since entering the hospital. Knowing that comfort can take many forms, Joann brought the patient her favorite comfort food during her lunch break.

I love to reassure and support people, helping them get better in many different ways.

CALLED TO CARE

LINDA FARLEY-MEYER, chaplain

When a patient in Soin’s Intensive Care Unit needed to be transferred to another network facility, the change made her feel afraid and reluctant. Linda recognized that the patient’s fear was keeping her from quickly transitioning to the care that would help her heal. Having established a trusting relationship with the patient, Linda knew that riding along with her would provide a calming presence.

When Linda reached out to hold the patient’s hand during the ride, she relaxed. Months later, the patient called Linda, thanking her for the comfort she gave during a transition that helped her heal.

I’m called to be an ambassador for God, bringing a sense of His peace.

- Linda Farley-Meyer

MICHAEL CUNNINGHAM, X-ray technician

A woman was at the hospital, supporting her father who was getting a biopsy. When she left to get the car, one of Michael’s co-workers noticed she went outside on one of the coldest days of the year—without a coat. After learning that she didn’t have a coat, Michael got his coat and gave it to the woman.

“I thought of Matthew 25:36—‘I was naked and you clothed me.’ I care for people hoping one day my kids will do the same.”

In 2014 Kettering Health Network had eight Emergency locations, breaking ground to add two more. In an emergency, time is critical. Because every minute counts, Kettering Health Network has been on a mission to bring emergency services closer to where people live and work. The journey began in 2011 when the network opened its first freestanding Emergency Center in Huber Heights.

In 2012 the addition of Soin Medical Center brought emergency services to the Beavercreek area. After only two years of operation the Soin Emergency Department needed to expand. In 2014, the network broke ground to add 12 new exam rooms, a nurses station, and supply areas. Most recently the network identified northern Warren and Preble counties as areas in need of better and faster access to emergency services. In 2014, Kettering broke ground on two new freestanding Emergency Centers to serve these areas.

The Kettering Health Network Emergency Center serving northern Warren County residents is located off I-75 at the Franklin/Springboro exit on State Route 73. The facility, which is accredited through Sycamore Medical Center, is 12,000 square feet and has 12 rooms.

The Emergency Center that will serve Preble County is located in Eaton next to the network’s existing Preble County Medical Center. The 20,000-square-foot facility will have 12 rooms and is the only facility in Preble County to offer emergency services.

As a faith-based, not-for-profit organization, we are called to protect and thoughtfully manage the resources entrusted to our care, using them to support the health and future of others.

This is why our financial resources are allocated to advocate for those who need help accessing health care, provide a living for our employees, advance our facilities to meet the needs of those we serve, and secure the financial health of our organization so we can continue to care for the community.

“Each of you should use whatever gift you have received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God’s grace in many forms.”

—1 Peter 4:10 (NIV)
Because Kettering Health Network is a not-for-profit organization, all net revenue over expenses goes back to our hospitals, facilities, and services. Unlike for-profit healthcare organizations, where money becomes dividend checks to investors, this money funds capital improvements, enhanced patient care, new hospital programs, and community outreach.

We give because we have already received so much—God freely gives grace, which inspires in us a spirit of giving.

When donors choose to support one of our network’s four foundations, they place not only a gift in our care but also a trust in our discernment.

In response to that trust, the foundations invest resources into our hospital services, healthcare education, resident physicians, employee development, and ultimately the future health of the community.

“Now it is required that those who have been given a trust must prove faithful.”

-1 CORINTHIANS 4:2 (NIV)
